

Ages and Stages of Parent Involvement

Parent Driven/Child Responsive

Parent is primary decision maker exposing child to different experiences

Parent Driven/Child Input

Parent continues to expose child to different experiences although child begins to offer input

Parent Driven/Child Driven

Equal participation in input and decision making

Child Driven/Parent Input

Parent begins to offer child decision making opportunities in safe environments and parent provides input

Child Driven/Parent Responsive

Child initiates decision making and parent is there to support the outcomes of the child's decisions

Ages and Stages of Parent Involvement

Parent Driven/Child Responsive

Parent choice of food, books..	Child eats
Parent choice of friends, games..	Child plays
Parent leads by example	Child follows

Parent Driven/Child Input

Parent gives choices	Child shares likes/dislikes
Parent models	Child practices
Parent encourages	Child begins to self-advocate

Parent Driven/Child Driven

Parent begins to let go	Child has more responsibility
Parent role plays with child	Child shares information
Parent leads with questions	Child can evaluate what works

Child Driven/Parent Input

Child practices	Parent provides opportunities
Child leads meetings/appointments	Parent gives feedback
Child creates a sense of identity	Parent supports

Child Driven/Parent Responsive

Child makes own appointments	Parent follows up
Child advocates on their own	Parent praises
Child problem solves independently	Parent lets go...

“If I had two wishes, I know what they would be; I'd wish for Roots to cling to, and Wings to set me free; Roots of inner values, like rings within a tree, and Wings of independence to seek my destiny.... Don't make my life too easy, it's better if I try and fail and get back up myself, so I can learn to fly. If I had two wishes, and two were all I had and they could just be granted, by my Mom and Dad; I wouldn't ask for money or any store-bought things. The greatest gifts I'd ask for are simply Roots and Wings.” By Denis Waitley